There Comes a Time ——————— by Ross Talarico

There Comes a Time When Mans Mind

Anxiously Awakens,

And His Body Restlessly Begins Responding

To Thoughts and Actions

Very Much Unlike Those

Which Have Slowly Satisfied

His Young and Peaceful Years.

Creative Minds of Famous Men

Are Not Content To Hear

Their Well-known Words Repeated,

For Books Are Only Paper-thin.

We Must Someday Strive To Be

The Hands of Michelangelo,

The Tongue of Hemmingway,

The Legs of Aristotle,

And, the Ears of Men in Times To Come.

Basketball

Coach George Monagan's Tribunes completed their second consecutive .500 season with a 12-12 record. It seems that every year a malady known as academic probation strikes the basketball team. This year, eight of the original fourteen players, including three starters, fell victim to classroom troubles. Dick O'Toole and Jim Murray were able to carry most of the load during the second semester. Throughout the season O'Toole and Murray teamed with Bruce McDaniel, Dick Helmbold, Pete Barrett, and Steve Hess to form one of the strongest powers in the state.

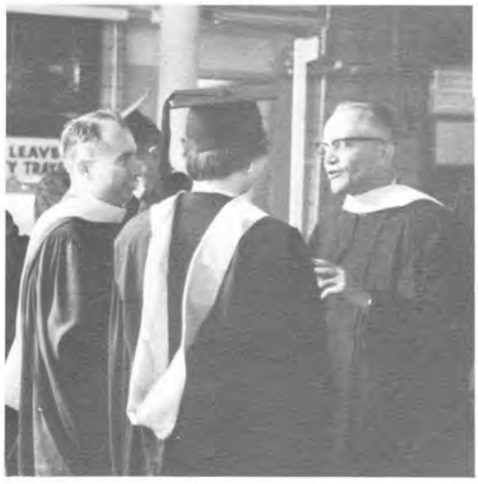
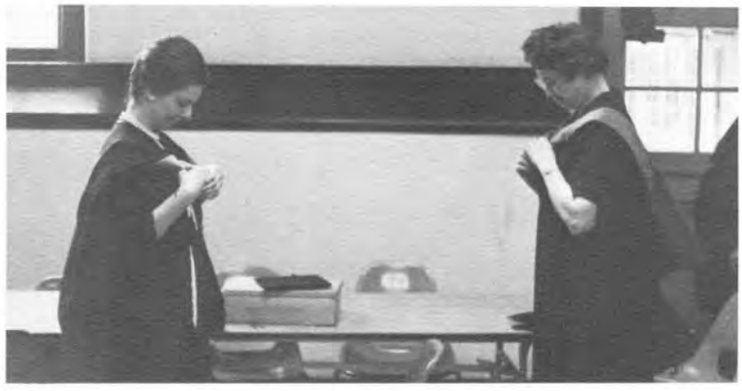
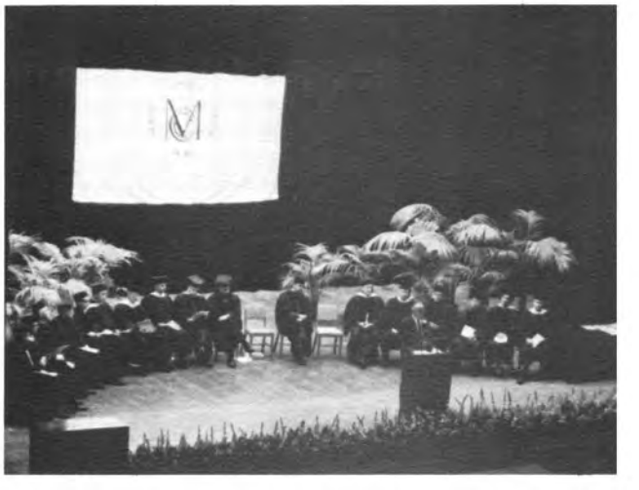
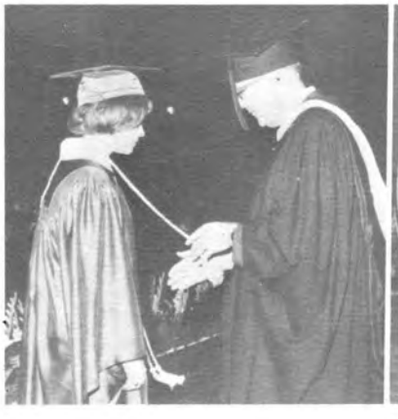
Commencement Ball

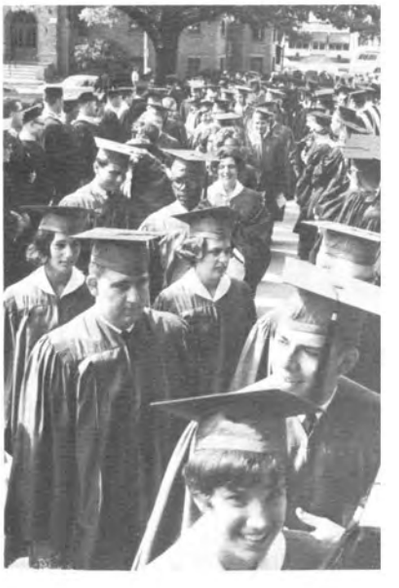




Commencement
1966







epilogue

In actuality, the RECALL will never come to an end – instead, it opens the doors to memories gone by. Those of us who have spent two years of our lives here at Monroe Community College will glance through this book and "recall" many distinct facets of our college years.

We have struggled along with the school from its crowded cafeteria and worn down stairs to the prospect of a bright new campus for MCC.

To all those who helped, encouraged, or simply put up with frustrated staff members, we give our thanks, with a special ovation going to Miss Barbara Lewick, our faculty advisor, and to Tony Bruculere, publishers representative of the American Yearbook Company. Without them the work would have been much more difficult.

Judy and Pat headed for Florida!
